We bow submissively to this driveney ordered any essation, and feel that the possession of neither youth nor saith, unwasted energies nor buoyant hopes, should tempt us to forget the mournful and impressive lesson which it conveys. Resolved, That we are called to deplore the loss of one of the most valued members of our Board. The unfortenate objects of our care have lost in him a protector and a friend. In recogning the services so long and so faithfully rendered by him, we have reason especially to remember the air which he afforded in representing the claims of our charity to the fostering use of the State and City Governments. He guided us practically by his counsel as a legal adviser of the Society. In our disherations he was corspictous for the soundness of his opinions, and for the practical utility of his suggestions; never shrinking from the performance of the trusts reposed in himsus, and for the practical utility of his suggestions; never shrinking from the performance of the trusts reposed in himsus, the sum of the devotion to the interests of the institution, and with marked efficiency and success.

TREATISE BILLS OF EXCHANGE

PROMISSORY NOTES. ISAAC EDWARDS,

Counselor-at-Law.

Just published, and for sale by BANKS, GOULD & Co., No. 144 Nassan-st., New-York, and No. 475 Broadway, Albany.

and No. 475 Broadway, Albany.

"A TREATISE OF ERLIS OF EXCHANGE AND PROMISSORY
NOTES. By Issac Edwards, Counselor at Law. Banks, Gould & Co. The materials of this work being based on the decisions of our own courts, does not come into competition with any English work on the subject; nor can it be deemed a rival of anything which has yet appeared in this country. The object has been to ascertain the law and state it in brief terms, with such illustrations as seemed calculated to develop and expisin the reason on which it is founded. Estimating the importance has been to sacertain the law and state it in brief terms, with such illustrations as seemed calculated to develop and explain the reason on which it is founded. Estimating the importance of the subject with reference to the amount of property after the shape of bills and notes, there never has been a time when it called for greater accuracy and discrimination than now, or invited the attention of merchants and professional men with equal urgency." [N Y. Journal of Commerce, Oct. 24, 1837.

"A TREATISE ON BILLS OF EXCHANGE AND PROMISSORY NOTES. By Issac Edwards, Counselor-at-Low. New York: Banks, Gould & Co. As the latest decision is deemed the highest authority in legal matters, the latest treatise or digest of cases on early branch of the law must be of the greatest value to practitioners, provided, of course, that it be faithfully compited and judiciously arranged. These requirements being met by the volume before us, we may justly recommend Mr. Edward's treatise to the gentlemen of the bar. It is preseminently an American law book, isocryporating the substance of nearly two thousand American decisions with the principles of law regarding negotiable paper established by the adjudications of the English Courts, and setting forth in notes the statutes of the State in which the commercial law is not adopted. By way of Spraidix, a translation is given of that part of the Commercial Code of France relating to bills of exchange and promissory notes. The index is very minute, and enables the reader to find in a moment what the law is on any point of the subject. The work is primarily adapted to the use of lawyers, but it will be scarcely less useful to merchants and bankers."

"A TREATHE ON BILLS OF EXCHANGE AND PROMISSORY NOTES. By Issae Edwards. Evo pp. 773. Banks, Gould & Co. The public is already in possession of several treatises on this subject. by Balley, Chitty, Story and others; thut as new decisions are constantly made, there is room for essential improvements on the treatises already published. One pecul and having reference to many points not touched upon in the English books.

"Nor is it merely to the law as exhibited in the adjudged cases that Mr. Edwards confines himself. With a view to give his book a greater practical utility, he has embodied in it the statute provisions of the various States, which, from the difficulty of setting access to a complete series of the statutes of the States, will prove a great convenience. Not only is a collection of State statutes not to be looked for in any private library, there are only two or three public libraries in this country which contain anything at all complete. Our New-York Law Library is wretchedly deficient on this score.

"The bulk to which the law on the subject of negotiable paper has expanded itself is apparent from the size of this work, which, without any undue prolixity, extends itself to nearly eight hundred pages. The last chapter gives that title of the commercial code of France which relates to exchange and premissory notes."
